

URUGUAYAN
AGENCY FOR INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION

About us

The Uruguayan Agency for International Cooperation (AUCI, in Spanish) is responsible for coordinating non-refundable international cooperation for development that Uruguay provides and receives. It was created in 2010 within the Presidency of the Republic.

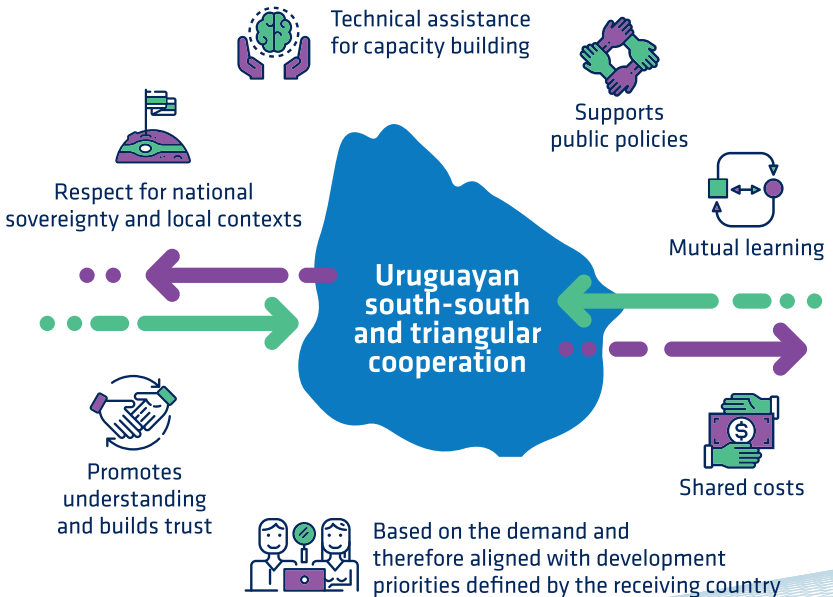

Our role

- 1. Prioritize and negotiate the international cooperation that we receive to the country's strategy
 - We search for new international cooperation opportunities for Uruguay
 - Ensure coordination and complementarity mechanisms among international cooperation initiatives
- 2. Strengthen the National System for International Cooperation
 - Facilitate access to relevant information for decision-making
 - Promote articulation and networking with diverse stakeholders
 - Highlight the monitoring and evaluation process

3. Support Uruguay's south-south and triangular cooperation (SSTC) strategy

- Promote bilateral programs and triangular cooperation agreements
- Provide technical support to national counterparts
- Financial support to initiatives
- Systematize Uruguayan capacities for SSTC

4. Manage and disseminate scholarship offers to study abroad

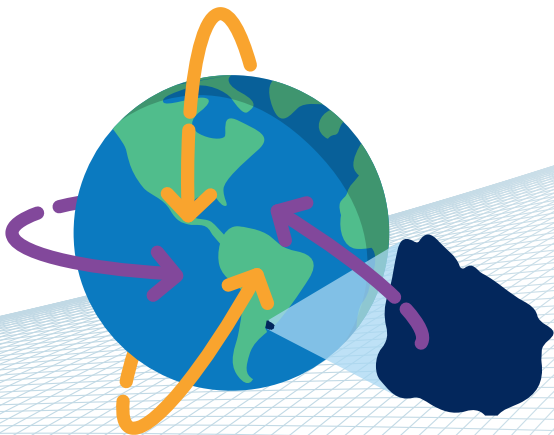

- Communicate the existing academic and professional studies on offer
- Receive and preselect applications (in some cases)
- Promote knowledge sharing after scholars return to Uruguay

5. Democratize access and opportunities throughout the national territory

- Support the identification of institutional needs and priorities
- Strengthen the capacities in training and project management of public, private and civil society actors

6. Position Uruguay in the international cooperation agenda

- Link the private sector in international cooperation
- Consolidate Uruguayan business units and good practices in the international context
