

International online and presential course “Cannabis and Cannabinoids: chemistry, pharmacology and clinical applications”
October 26 to 30, 2020

Overview

“Cannabis and cannabinoids” has become a popular research topic within the Uruguayan scientific community, since a law that regulates the cannabis market was approved (Dec. 2013); and recently another law which promotes research in Cannabis and cannabinoids has been approved (Dec. 2019). This new regulation promotes and facilitates the study of the medical use of Cannabis and Cannabinoids as a national priority. In this context, we have considered of major importance to organize a postgraduate international course to improve the knowledge related to this topic.

The course will be focused on three major modules:

- Module I- Plant: genetics, chemistry and secondary metabolites
- Module II- Endocannabinoid System and cannabinoids effects
- Module III- Pathologies and therapeutic applications based on Cannabis and Cannabinoids

We think that this content could be an excellent framework to include different views and theoretical frames on the effects and the mechanisms of action of cannabinoids and endocannabinoids in the pathologies of interest for specialized local and foreign scientists. In addition, it will be an excellent environment to present the local Uruguayan research focused on medicinal use of Cannabis and Cannabinoids. The course will also be an exceptional opportunity to promote scientific and social links between postgraduate students and highly-qualified guest scientists.

Academic profile of attendees

The course will be offered to postgraduate students of Biology, Chemistry, Biochemistry and Medical Sciences. In addition, clinicians, nurses and dentists could also benefit from it. It was approved by PEDECIBA (Programa de Desarrollo de Ciencias Básicas) from Universidad de la República.

Organizer and Co-organizer: Consorcio de Innovación Sur (CISUR) and CannaLatan-Cyted
Language: Spanish and English (non-translation)
Modality: Combined event (presential and online regime).
Venue: Sala Las orquídeas de LATU, Montevideo, Uruguay.
